Mt Cook Cup returns to the Mackenzie

After an absence of five years, perhaps the most sought after trophy played for by the Mackenzie Club has returned home to the Mackenzie.

The Mackenzie Senior "B" team who have not won as often as they would have liked in the last few years, played Pleasant Point for the "MT COOK CUP" last Saturday.

They put on a very spirited and constructive performance to "BRING THE CUP HOME" with the score line win of 13 -3. The delight on the faces of both the team and supporters, at the end of the match played in shoddy weather conditions, was a pleasure to witness.

Captain Peter Graham was a very happy chappy, when Brian Beattie, on behalf of the late Donald Burnett, presented the Cup.

No player was singled out for player of the day, the "WHOLE SQUAD WAS" which was very well received by all in the Point's club rooms. It would have been a long trip home on the bus, and following the tradition over the past few year, the trophy will be off on a 'tiki tour' 'up country'.

On behalf of all rugby followers around the Mackenzie District – very well done.

The Senior team was beaten for the "HIGHWAY 8 CUP" by 18- 25. They play Old Boys at home next week for the "Meredith Cup". A good win here will see them on track again to maintain that top 4 spot. Len King (edited)

A big Mackenzie welcome to all those visiting over Queen's Birthday Weekend - especially those taking part in the Irishmen's Creek Car Rally!

History of the Mount Cook Cup

From Jeremy Sutherland

The Mt Cook Cup was presented by T.D. Burnett MP to the Pleasant Point Football Club in 1929 for their annual seven- a- side tournament. Tommy Burnett purchased the trophy for fifty guineas (150 pounds), and left its award criteria in the hands of the Point Club. It was decided to award the cup to "the most attractive team on the day" (not necessarily the tournament winner).

The Timaru Boys High School team were the inaugural winners. Other winners from the sevens tournament were Old Boys, Temuka and Star. In 1937 the tournament was abandoned, and the cup went missing during the Second War. It was retrieved again and played for in 1946 in the XV game between Pleasant Point and Pareora. In the next season it was decided to put the cup up for an end of season match between Point and the winner of the Mackenzie Sub-Union Knockout Champions (Griggs Cup), and so began the relationship with the Mackenzie County. That first match was played on Saturday 20th of September 1947 between the hosts and Tekapo. Pukaki and Fairlie were also victorious until the demise of the sub-union at the end of the 1952 season. Pleasant Point never defeated the Mackenzie Sub-Union Clubs.

From 1953- 1964 the Mackenzie Seniors played the Point Seniors (who played in the senior reserve grade), but since then the rule has been corresponding grade under senior. The cup was not played for in 1956, 58 and 1978. The 1960 and 1973 matches were played for by the 3rd grade sides, and in 1980 the 6th grade. In 1967 Temuka were challenged because Point didn't field a team.

Mackenzie's Senior side won the cup 2000 - 04, (because there was no corresponding teams under senior) and the Bs 2005- 08 (the 2008 game being the famous 'snow' match - a six all draw). The Pleasant Point Bs were holders 2009- 2012.

The Mt Cook Cup has never been engraved with a winner's name. Mackenzie; 1953 - 55, 1957, 1959 - 66, 1968, 1974, 1977, 1980 - 82, 1985, 1988 - 89, 1992, 1995 - 96, 2000 - 03, 2006 - 08, 2013.

Feedback Sought on Old Library

The Mackenzie District Council is seeking public feedback on the fate of the Old Library building and plans to hold a public meeting

Built in 1914, the Old Library was a gift from American philanthropist Andrew Carnegie and was known as a "Carnegie Library". In more recent times it has housed the Old Library Café, a well-known destination for visitors.

The building was badly damaged by fire in October, 2011. Since then, insurance assessors and engineers have studied the damage and the general condition of the building.

Mackenzie District Council chief executive Wayne Barnett says the insurers believe the cost of repairing the building is too high. The insurance company has made two offers – either demolish the building and claim its indemnity value of $272,000, or replace the building with a new one and claim the insured value of $676,000.

However, the council has also sought a second opinion from engineers who believe it might be possible to repair the building within the insured value of $676,000. This would include bringing the building up to current earthquake standards. Further engineering design work is needed to confirm this. Mr Barnett says the council would like to hear the views of the community before moving forward.

There are three options for people to consider:

Option 1: Repair the Old Library, but only if this can be done within the insured value.

Option 2: Demolish the Old Library and replace it with a new building, within the insured value.

Option 3: Demolish the Old Library and claim the indemnity value. The future of the land would be uncertain.

Mr Barnett says the Old Library Café was an award-winning attraction that brought people to Fairlie and it would be great for the cafe to return to the site.

"What we really need to know is; if we can afford to repair or replace the building with the amount we receive from the insurer, does the community want it repaired or do they want it replaced?"

This year's seminar is no different. The theme is ‘Mental Wellness’, a subject very much a concern in our rural communities. For this reason the organisation has made the decision to open it up to both men and women, urban and rural. The seminar aims to inform, provide a chance for social networking (an important tool in mental wellbeing) and have the attendees leaving with a smile on their face and a toolkit of information and strategies to help themselves, family and /or neighbours feel more positive about facing the stresses of every day life.

The morning keynote speaker is Hugh Norriss, from Wellington, who is Director of Policy and Development with the Mental Health Foundation. Hugh also currently manages the ‘Working Well’ programme supporting organisations to proactively improve mental health in the workplace. Hugh while looking at general mental health issues will focus on how to minimise mental health problems by increasing wellbeing; the benefits of mental wellbeing to overall mental health and general health and proven strategies and tips. In the afternoon Hannah Airey who is the Director of ‘Lotus Health and Wellbeing’ in Christchurch will be taking a Laughter workshop. Hannah has extensive experience in presenting, workshops in wellbeing and mental wellness by combining easy to understand information, positive psychology with unconditional laughter. Her presentation is sure to be humorous and interactive.

The new face at Fairlie House and Garden – Margaret Mayo

A visit to Fairlie last New Year's Day prompted Margaret Mayo to go online and see what businesses were for sale in the area. She had just been tracing family history in South Canterbury and visiting graves along the way when she arrived in Fairlie in time to watch the New Year's Day Parade.

Both her parents and grandparents came from the area. In fact her grandparents were the cook and gardener at Opawa in the 20s and 30s. And then her Mum's side came from Albury and Cave. Names like Cormack, Smith and Black were her forebears with a threshing mill thrown into that mix.

And so in a way it's a coming back, with Margaret (Maggie) choosing to leave the upheaval of Christchurch post quake Sept 2010 and move to settle in Fairlie. Back when the quake struck Maggie was head chef at the Famous Grouse at Lincoln. Her life changed dramatically that day, she witnessed the after quake damage and the end of an era in Lincoln. She then gained employment as a chef at the Sports Bar and after time there has made this decision to come south, and have a completely new way of life.

Maggie's interests focus on craft and gardening – an experienced dressmaker, with years spent in a garden centre plus landscaping! This will be reflected in the shop where she will stock craft items and pursue her passion for roses and plants.

We've sold!

After 3 years at Fairlie House and Garden we have sold the business and look forward to the next chapter which will include spending more time together as a family. We wish the new owner Maggie every success in her new venture and thank everyone for their patronage of this community business.

See you all around the township! Regards Lynley and Pete (L&P)

What is Pledgeme.co.nz & crowd-funding all about?

PledgeMe is here to provide a collaborative way to help fund creative projects for anyone who has an idea they want to see happen, and just as importantly, give support to those who wish to contribute to the success of a project.

When a project is successful and reaches or exceeds the funding goal the project requires, the total amount raised by the contributions of the supporters is passed on to the creator of the project, minus the percentage due to PledgeMe. If a project is not successful and doesn't reach its funding goal, the funding intended for the project doesn't get charged to the supporters of the project.

Mini van a popular way to see the country!

The monthly outings in the Fairlie Community mini-van are continuing to be popular.

Last week the trip was to Christchurch, leaving at 7am and enjoying a stop at Rakaia en route.

Many on board had not seen the earthquake damage first hand and were shocked into silence when they considered what people had to put up with.

There was a visit to Aranui Heartlands to deliver all the slippers that had been knitted here in Fairlie by a wonderful group of women for the kids in Aranui. Another lot of feet warmers headed to a daycare centre with the help of Melissa Marlow, who had worked there.

The container city, the new Ballantynes, the Westfields Mall, the changes through the tunnel in Lyttleton, the scenery along the road to Governors Bay, Rapaki, all contributed to a very informative and enjoyable day out.

We are pleased to offer this opportunity and will take the very best care of you!

Ballad of Ernie Slow

*'The Silverstream that gurgles forth
Where crystal Three Springs play
By shady trees on fragrant banks
It winds its careless way
By fragrant banks where musk and mint
And white flowered dark green cresses
Are playing with and mingling with
The waterweeds soft tresses'*

The Mackenzie Country has cultivated a number of genuine characters over the years, none more famous than Ernest (Ernie) Slow, one of New Zealand's greatest rhymesters.

In his latest book, Noel has chosen to venture into Ernie's life and his tragic death. In some quarters Ernie became legendary for his ballads, for others however, he was branded for his addiction to the odd spot of highland nectar.

Here was a man who loved the wide-open spaces and felt at home with the sun on his face and the wind through his hair. He had a profound respect for Mother Nature, all the while appreciating the power in those rugged and sometimes inhospitable mountain peaks of the Mackenzie Basin.

Probably the most famous of Ernie's ballads was "The Godley Ghost". The original title of that was the "Devil's Daughter". Ernie composed this around the time of the "Great Depression" during the 1920's and 1930's. Most will recall his ballad, yet very few will place any recognition of the creator of that work. There is no offence intended here, it is just that Ernie lived in a very different time zone to the majority of residents today.

Noel has strived to bring to the reader all the known ballads and poetry ever composed by Ernie, some jovial while others are emotional. Along with many other hilarious stories such as the "Drunken Shearer" the "Naked Winger" the "Pink Panther" and so on.

From the streets of Wilton in Shoreditch, Middlesex, England, where Ernie's grandfather is said to have worked as a "wine cooper" through to where he tells of Ernie's life and profiles the lives of his parents and siblings.

They say that famous piece 'The Devil's Daughter', was born out of wedlock in a moment of passion between Ezra Brooks (whisky) and Old Crow (whisky). According to some, the resulting child grew up to haunt the Sardine Hut, at the head of Lake Alexandrina, on Glenmore Station.

Ernie Slow wrote this ballad after witnessing in the Sardine Hut, Jack Skinner's dilemma as he fought those images of a scantily dressed woman, passing his cobweb-encrusted windowpane in the dead of night.

Jack Skinner and his wife Maria, at one time owned the Silverstream Hotel in Kimbell. The Skinner children went to the Kimbell School. However, financially stretched Jack and Maria let the hotel go around 1920. To feed the family, Jack took up rabbiting in the backcountry, spending most of his time on Glenmore Station, while Maria returned to Timaru. Loneliness overcame Jack after a time, but to counter this he enlisted the company of Jack Daniels and Johnny Walker. That duo, if ever there was a couple of rogues, it was those two.

More than 200 pages of text and photographic images, this volume, while mostly covering the life of Ernie Slow, it begins its journey into the past with a delightful but short piece by the late Alistair McIntosh, who once owned Cloudy Peaks Station.

J P Hanifin, a Mackenzie character and shearer from the past also features. He was perhaps a little younger than Ernie, but had a similar style of verse where he portrayed life in the Mackenzie during his time and before.

Also portrayed is Edward Slow, who Noel thinks could be Ernie's uncle and who during his time 1841 to 1925 was a famous Dialect Poet and Storyteller of Wilton, in Middlesex.

In conclusion, included is an epilogue, a ballad by the late Edith Williams of Fairlie, where she summarizes Ernie's life into a few verses. Edith's piece concludes this volume on perhaps a rather emotional note.

Throughout this book, Noel has endeavoured to rekindle a memory of the late Ernest (Ernie) Slow in an effort promote his legacy to the Mackenzie Country.

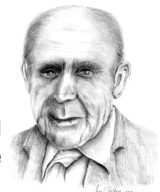

On a way back station
It sure is no joke
The days are so hard and long
Without a bloomin' smoke
For a place like this in autumn
Without some soothing weed
Is like giving a fancy cookery book
To a starving man in need

A couple of sketches showing my interpretation of both Ernie Slow and Jack Skinner

Left: Jack Skinner as a very young man during what is thought to be the 1880's and most probably in Aberdeenshire, Scotland, prior to immigrating to New Zealand.

Success for Fairlie Kyokushin students (and their instructors) who completed their respective gradings at a recent regional kyokushin karate grading in Timaru.

A brief outline of what has to be achieved to pass: Students have to run up to 3 km at the start of the grading, then tested on skills learned over the previous term starting with traditional kihon (kihon translates to basic techniques and is the foundation of all subsequent learning in karate) then Ido Geiko (moving techniques), kata (pre-arranged series of kihon) followed by stamina testing (press-ups, situps and belt or pad jumps and finally Kumite free sparring with partners (following strict safety rules to prevent injury and make for a controlled and respectful exercise) higher numbers of each exercise are added as the student attains a higher belt level). Gradings take 1-1.5 hours for a 10th Que to 3.5-4 hours for higher Ques (grades). Gradings are held 3 times a year.

Building Consents Prompt Growth in the Mackenzie District Building activity is flourishing in the Mackenzie District with the number of council building consents expected to jump to record levels this year.

Mackenzie District Council building control manager Steve McLellan says the council usually processes an average of 250 building consents a year. Last year that increased to 301, and this year he predicts between 340 and 350 - the highest ever. These figures include both commercial and residential, new buildings and renovations.

Mr McLellan says it's difficult to say what's driving the increase. The consents include young couples building their first home, people from outside the district building holiday homes, older people building a place to retire and farm buildings like dairy sheds.

The work is also spread across the district. New homes are being built in Tekapo and Twizel. There is a lot of alteration work happening on old houses in the Fairlie township, and some consents have been for farm buildings in farming areas around Fairlie. "I talk to people who apply for building consents and there is one trend I've noticed," Mr McLellan says.

"A lot of people say they have sat on their money through the recession and now they've decided the time is right to move on with their lives and start building.

Mr McLellan says the council has just added a new staff position to help with the increased workload and he appreciates the extra help.

He believes the increase will be sustained in the long term.

Council manager of planning and regulations Nathan Hole says it's critical for a small local authority like Mackenzie to see sustained growth in the district. The increase in building activity is good for everyone.

"This is positive for the district. It's all about money coming into the local economy, with most of the work being carried out by local builders and labourers.

"Also, when you build you increase the capital value of your property and this increases the capital value of the district. This helps make a council more sustainable in the long-term."

BREAST HILL

Now that got your attention! Not many tramps have such a name as this!! Anyway, this is a wonderful tramp to do over a weekend and can be done in the winter. There is a cosy hut to sleepover in that has a fire, with firewood! Can't assume there is firewood in these back country huts.

This tramp was on Lake Hawea Station owned by Tom and Adrian Riley, but is now DOC after the Riley's went through tenure review. Lake Hawea is the destination for this tramp and it is part of the Te Araroa Trail. The views are well worth the climb on the first day. I recommend you get away early on the first day as it's quite a big walk to get over to Stody's hut that has the fire.

Drive to Lake Hawea or Hawea Flat depending on the direction you arrive from. Find a map that will show the way to Timaru Creek Road which is on the true left of the lake. If you have no map, then follow your nose to that side of the lake! Once you get to Timaru Creek Road, drive past the little picnic area at Gladstone and drive another 1.5km to the DOC carpark that is on your left. It is not very big.

To find the start of the track you need to walk back a few metres and you will find the DOC sign up the bank beside the big pines! Eagle eyes needed for this bit. By now you will have your pack on with lots of warm gear for a winter tramp, get your climbing legs on for a 950m climb. This climb will have you warm in no time! It is well marked and you will have plenty of time to stop and admire the views. It is such a fun climb.

A lot of locals are using the track for multisport training. The sign says it is a 4-5hr climb, but if you are fit for climbing, you can do it in half the time. Your reward is wonderful when you reach one of DOC's newest huts, Pakituhi Hut. Shame they can't use a normal name, like Breast Hill Hut! This is a perfect hut for lunch and a well earned rest. There is no fire in this hut as there are no trees for miles. A good summer hut. It sleeps 8 to 10.

From here it is a gradual lift to the summit of Breast Hill 1579m, following an old fence line. A good chance there will be snow in the winter. If you are worried about snow or ice, instep crampons are very handy to take along. Hopefully you will have a clear day to see the views and see the Cardrona Fault that has carved the land below you into steep angles.

Mt Aspiring can be seen out to the west. If the weather is too rough, there is a foul weather track to take from Pakituhi Hut that joins the summit track.

After the photo shots on Breast Hill, its a very gentle walk along the 4wd track that takes you to Stodys Hut, which was one of the Riley's mustering huts. This was called Stoot Shit Hut in Lake Hawea Station days, now renamed. DOC have put in platform bunks, added their signs and not pulled the hut down. These old huts are real gems that we must treasure. This section is about 7km. There are markers every now and then along here, but don't miss the turn off sign that takes you down to the hut.

Now you can relax after your walk, get that fire going, put the billy on and enjoy your evening. Day two is straight forward. Don't forget to replace your firewood and leave the hut tidy for the next visitors. You are in beech trees straight away and a steep decent down to Timaru Creek. Your hill stick will be handy here!! Make sure you turn left at the bottom of the hill as you now travel at least 10km down stream. There is a sign to tell you and a reasonable track most of the way, then its pretty much in the river getting wet feet.

Sand flies shouldn't bother you too much in the winter. They were shocking when we did it in January. You will come out at Timaru Creek Road, turn left and walk along the road about 6km back to the car. We hid our bike here the day before the tramp, then road back to the car.

Not a silly idea. There are many options for trips in this area, this is just one...! For the fit off road runners out there, this can easily be completed in a day! If you are wondering if the hill you climb is shaped like a breast, then that is for me to know and you to 'go' and find out...!!

The topo map is Lake Hawea CA 13.

Enjoy LW

Preparing for Winter!

Now is a good time to check your emergency kits.

Is your stored water due for a change/refresh?

Is it time to rotate or update your medication?

How about your torch and radio batteries?

Have you changed your vehicle and if so do the snow chains fit?

Have you put your cold weather jacket back in your vehicle after our warm summer?

Do any arrangements you have for care of pets and livestock need changing? (people previously organised shifted away or no longer able to carry out tasks)

Is your BBQ gas cylinder full? (a good alternative source of energy for cooking when the power is off)

Have you had the level of anti-freeze checked in your vehicles?

Do you have an analogue telephone and is it easily accessible? (Remember you will require it when the power is off and this may be at night)

Are there warm clothes in your get away kit?

(If they are 5 years old then do they still fit???)

Commemorating World War One in Fairlie

Above: Mick Glover, Graham Parcell, Michael Kerr and Warren Barker gather to mark out the area proposed for the statue on the Fairlie Village Green

The last few Accessibles we have kept you informed on decisions made by the group interested in some form of commemorating the lives of the young men who went from this district to the Great War, and never returned.

Two projects were mooted – a statue and story of a young soldier leaving Fairlie Railway Station for the final time and a rotunda with information panels and housing a Krupp Field gun, bought back as souvenirs by the NZ Government at the end of the War. We told you what was happening and asked for comments – that is called consultation!

Comments thus far have all been favourable with specific praise for the idea of the statue.

Thus the group has sort quotes and now after deciding on the position of the statue will consult the Fairlie Community Board and hopefully with their support, apply for funding. The project will not proceed without external funding: ie: you as a ratepayer will not be asked to contribute.

The statue will be positioned opposite the Gladstone Grand Hotel, on the site of the platform of the former Fairlie Railway Station. It will be 5 metres from the car park area, with a paved area in front and seats each side leading to the statue and information panel. We will keep you informed of further developments!

Amazing! Fifty - seven years of voluntary service!

At the recent AGM of the Mackenzie Highland Pipe Band, Pipe Major John Campbell handed in his resignation as Pipe Major, a position he has held for the last 29 years.

John was presented with a plaque and a much appreciated bottle of whisky, in recognition of his 57 years of continuous service to the band.

John has also tutored pupils at Mackenzie College for 43 years and has been rewarded with some of these pupils continuing their piping interest once they left Fairlie.

R. J. (John) Campbell 1955

Without John's dedication and persistence as Pipe Major over the years, it is doubtful the Mackenzie Highland Pipe Band would be where it is today.

John is to be complimented for giving 57 years of service to band that only last year celebrated 100 years in existence.

Do you realize in about 40 years, we'll have thousands of old ladies running around with tattoos in strange places!!

Davey Hughes in Fairlie

Have you ever touched an arctic fox before? Have you ever touched a lynx? Have you ever touched a beaver or a skunk?

Well all the children at Fairlie Primary School have!

On Wednesday the 15th we were very lucky to spend an afternoon with Davey Hughes who told us a few stories about his hunting adventures. He taught us how to tell if an elephant was going to charge. We got the opportunity to touch fur from different animals around the globe. We also got to meet Mr Hughes pet beaver and we named him 'Snazza.' Snazza goes everywhere with him, including on planes! We also were lucky to get a copy of his book, 'Untamed,' for the school library.

We would like to say a HUGE THANK YOU to the FAIRLIE PRIMARY HOME AND SCHOOL COMMITTEE for all their work organising this visit for us and for organising a fantastic night show. Thanks to all that came along on the night and those who supported the evening show including: Heartland Chips, Fairlie House and Garden, Louk Clothing - Geraldine, Kiwi Treasures - Lake Tekapo, Pinewood Motels and of course Davey Hughes from Swazi.

WELCOME TO FAIRLIE

Anna, Eilish, Isabella, Ailan and Andrew McDonald

"Seek the peace and prosperity of the city to which I have carried you into exile. Pray to the LORD for it, because if it prospers, you too will prosper."

Jeremiah spoke these words to the Jewish people thousands of years ago when they found themselves on the move to a new place, to live among new people. The same words were spoken to me two weeks ago when I was welcomed as the new vicar/minister of the Mackenzie Cooperating Church

There are obviously major differences between my families' situation and the ancient Jews. For a start, I haven't come to a foreign city but to the gorgeous township of Fairlie and its amazing surrounding countryside! Secondly, I haven't been sent here as a slave.

Rather I've come very willingly from Ashburton (and originally North Canterbury), as a pastor to the local church. But one thing rings true; Jeremiah advised the Jewish people to "seek the peace and welfare" of the people who they found themselves living among. That's what I'm here to do. To seek the peace and welfare and wholeness that God desires to generously bestow on the people of Fairlie. I am here to pray for you and support your town as a pastor of the local church.

To do this, my wife Anna, along with our children, Ailan (9), Eilish (8) and Isabella (3), and I will become part of your community. As our lives get connected with the life of this community we'll begin to get a feel for your hopes and dreams and concerns. Over the coming year I'll take time to introduce myself to many of you personally. Though of course you don't have to wait for us to come to you; if you see us up the street say hello! And I'm only ever a phone call away if you should need to talk or have someone pray with you.

The peace of Christ be with you all!

God, you shape our dreams.

As we put our trust in you

may your hopes and desires be ours,

and we your expectant people. Amen.

Rev. Andrew McDonald
